West Clayton Neighbourhood

West Clayton is the name of the second urban neighbourhood in Clayton Heights, adjacent to East Clayton and the Agricultural Land Reserve (ALR). Originally characterized by its rural acreage lots and agricultural uses, the area is now designated to support urban development and the future homes of over 12,000 Surrey residents. This site is generally located North of Fraser Highway and east of the Agricultural Land Reserve (ALR); it is bordered by the East Clayton NCP to the east and a future North Clayton NCP to the northeast.

Development Potential

This Land Assembly presents an opportunity to secure a 2.62 acre future development site that sits within the West Clayton Neighbourhood Concept Plan with the Townhouse/ Apartment Flex designation. The subject property is on the corner of 72nd and 182nd St and consists of 3 lots. The property is across the street from a future 125 small single family site to the North, future townhouse residential to the south and a mixed used commercial hub to the east along Fraser Highway. The site also sits within blocks of the proposed Future Transit Station Node at the intersection of Fraser highway and 184st ( location, configuration and design is still subject to Translink approval)

NCP Land Use Information

The TOWNHOUSE / APARTMENT FLEX designation will permit the option of developing townhouses or apartments or a combination of these two housing types. The intent is to enable innovative site layouts, built forms and development options within the context of the urban blocks.

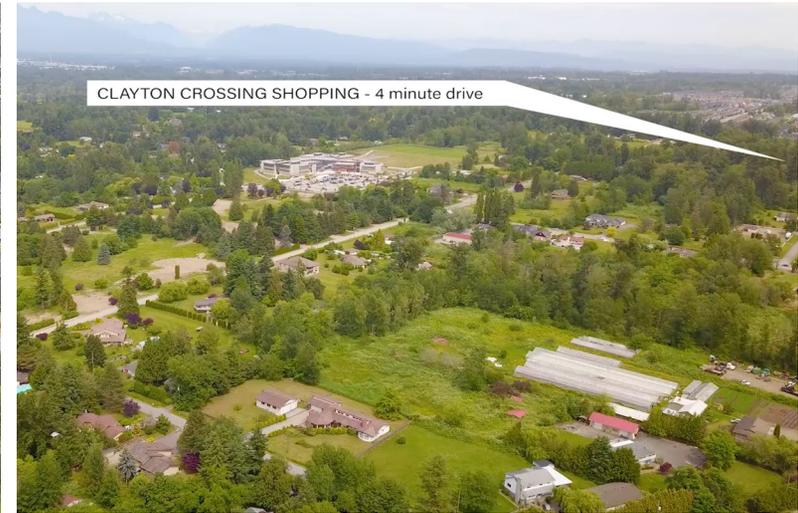

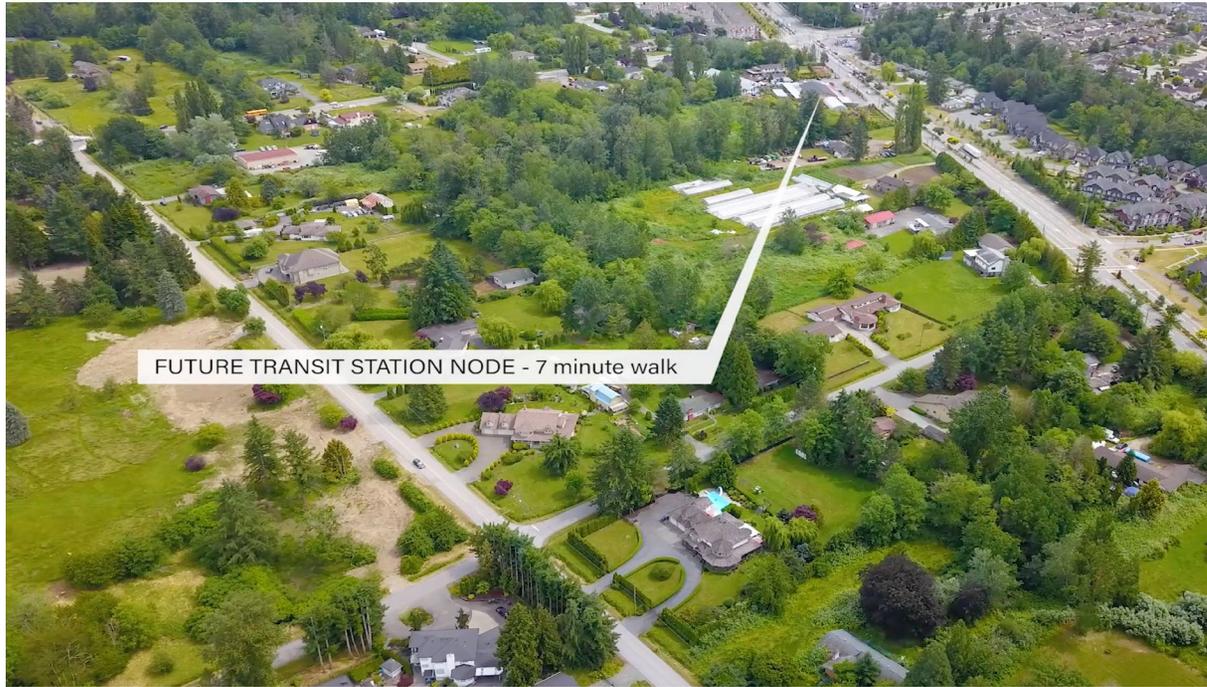

Densities within TOWNHOUSE / APARTMENT designation may range as follows:

TYPE 1 – Townhouse areas have a base net density of 61 units per hectare (25 units per acre) up to a maximum of 66 units per hectare (27 units per acre) with Energy Efficiency Bonus.

TYPE 2 – Apartment areas have a base Floor Area Ratio of 1.3 up to maximum 1.5 Floor Area Ratio with Energy Efficiency Bonus
